Radio ZK 18539 requires that officers pay for woolen clothing drawn in Korea. Baggage allowance of those who traveled by air was insufficient for both summer and winter clothing. Others in certain units were required to leave wool behind. All possess adequate supply of wool clothing that is unavailable to them here due to no fault of their own. Consequently they must bear added expenses of securing additional wool in excess of actual needs. Request reconsideration.

Due to recent Dept of the Army commitments relative to the large influx of ERC and basic trainee pers slated for asgmt to Army Eight an early fulfillment of shortages currently existing with the combat divs can be expected. Accordingly, request authority to return to Republic of Korea Army those Koreans now assigned to Army Eight Divs who are in excess of 25% of those originally authorized ea company and battery. The experience and tng afforded these Korean trps remaining with combat units will prove to be invaluable at a later date when the need exists for an experienced Korean Cadre. Korean pers declared surplus as a result of the 25% factor can be rtd to ROK for suitable employment by the Korean Army.

6 report combat ops on M 46 tank (Patten) is subject. Tanks now operating in vic of Taejon after completing 110 mile road march from Taegu. During road march directing sup was given and very few maintenance problems were encountered. Armament performed very well with innumerable tanks. A T guns, M37 guns and machine guns nests destroyed. One M 46 tank hit 16 times with 45, 57 and 85 mm AT projectiles but returned to combat after replacement of road wheels and track sections. When tanks hit mines serious injury results to both driver and assistant driver as escape hatch doors are blown into drivers compartments. The circular seat (rim) which is secured to the hull proper and in which the escape flange seats is also blown along with the hatch. The escape hatch does not break up. Causes seems to be due to fact that rim is not securely fastened to the hull. An escape hatch that will retain in position when blasted by mines is recommended as essential. 3 aux engines replaced due to 2 frozen cylinders and 1 with knock.

These were operated while tanks were on approx 35-45 degree slope and performing combat mission. Possibility exists that 1 connecting rod is not properly lubricated when tank is tilted as already mentioned. Engines contained sufficient oil when inspected. Tear down inspection will be performed at this end. Suggest tests be conducted with auxiliary engine tilted.

Tests to this end indicate that oil is entering aux engine magneto through drive gear end of magneto due to buildup crank case pressure. All tanks now have flexible steel oil hose and fine performance is being obtained.

DECLASSIFIED PER JCS LTR OF 20 AUG. 75

6 Report Combat OBS on M 46 Tank (Patton) is subject. Tanks now operating in vic of Taejon after completing 110 mile road march from Taegu. During road march direct Inf sup was given and very few maintenance problems were encountered. Armament performed very well with innumerable tanks, at guns, SP guns and machine guns nests destroyed. 1 M 46 tank hit 16 times with 45, 57 and 85mm at projectiles but returned to combat after replacement of road wheels and track sections. When tanks hit mines serious injury results to both driver and assistant drivers as escape hatch doors are blown into drivers compartments. The circular seat (Rim) which is secured to the hull proper and in which the escape hatch flange seats is also blown along with the hatch. The escape hatch does not break up. Cause seems to be due to fact that Rim is not securely fastened to the hull.

An escape hatch that will remain in position when blasted by mines is recommended as essential. 3 aux engines replaced due to 2 frozen cylinders and 1 with knock. These were operated while tanks were on approx 35-45 degree slope and performing combat mission.

Possibility exists that 1 connecting rod is not properly lubricated when tank is tilted as already mentioned. Engines contained sufficient oil when inspected. Tear down inspection will be performed at this end. Suggest tests be conducted with auxiliary engine tilted.

Tests at this end indicate that oil is entering aux engine magneto through drive gear end of magneto due to built up crank case pressure. All tanks now have flexible steel oil hoses and fine performance is being obtained.
