For CSCAD.

Reference is FEC document 284/7 entitled Policy Toward Patents, Utility Models and Designs in Japan. Second sentence of paragraph 5 of referenced document commences "Third parties who have bona fide manufactured et cetera". Would appreciate interpretation of words "bona fide" in that context.

MEMO FOR RECORD:

1. In the proposed FEC policy of Patents etc., (FEC 284/7) the second sentence of paragraph 5 begins "Third parties who have bona fide manufactured ....". Literally the words bona fide mean "in good faith" but, in the stated context, interpretations could range from "in the absence of fraud" to "by virtue of having independently developed the invention."

2. In order to gauge the possible effects of the policy on the inducement of foreign capital into Japan, it is necessary to obtain a definition of the term.

For CSCAD

(-30245) Pass to State and Commerce. Subject is SCAP Trade and Financial Arrangements.

1. Except for UK agreement to release to general public the terms of the Sterling Overall Payments Arrangement, and French Government agreement to release terms of French Financial Arrangement, no government has as yet agreed to release the terms of any Trade or Financial Arrangement negotiated on behalf of such government in trade conferences with SCAP acting in respect of Occupied Japan.

2. Although conference documents are not classified here, they are regarded as "Confidential". Representatives of foreign governments are informed of this and have expressed appreciation since in their view general publication of the conference details might possibly embarrass their governments. All conferees are advised, however, that conference papers are passed to Japanese Government since information contained therein is vital to successful implementation of the arrangement in order to achieve the goals established in the trade conferences. Since it is considered necessary to pass the documents to the Japanese Government no classification of conference documents is formally established, but the Japanese Government is informed that all such documents are to be treated as if marked "Confidential".

3. Under the circumstances outlined above, it is requested that all holders of conference documents be advised of this procedure and that they retain any such documents in confidence until authority is obtained from the respective governments concerned as to general release. DA will be advised from time to time as such authority is obtained.

4. View here is that quantitative and value data regarding specific commodities as set forth in various Trade Plans is market information that should not be released in view of possible adverse effects on markets in which prospective procurement would be accomplished. No objection from SCAP viewpoint to release of total values of Trade Plans without specific mention or breakdown of commodities stated therein.

5. Subject to views expressed in paragraph 4, this radio, SCAP seeks clearance with various governments to obtain agreement as to release of text of trade and financial arrangements.

1. Heretofore since the war resumption of the exchange of radio-telegraph traffic between Japan and any part of Germany has been impossible due to lack of necessary quadripartite agreement in occupied Germany. A Tripartite agreement has now been reached permitting resumption of traffic between Japan and the US, UK and French Zones of Occupation in German.

2. The American carriers were approached through their local representatives in Japan and were found to be agreeable with the proposal as contained in the subject radio.

3. This radio is for the purpose of conveying SCAP's propos 1 to Dept of Army and thence to PROCOM preliminary to actual establishment of service and in addition refers to Dept of Army's previous radio W 91294 referring to same subject.

ANALYSIS OF ELECTION:

The election was a smashing conservative victory. It gave practical assurance that the Government would remain unchanged for the next four years, with a decisive mandate to one political party controlling a safe majority of the Diet seats. The most impressive result of the election was the gain of 112 seats by the Democratic-Liberal Party -- to a lesser degree the sharp reduction in the Socialist strength from 143 seats in the 1947 election to 49 seats resulting from the present election, and the Communist gain of 31 seats. Although even with such gain the Communist party, in a strong one-party government, has not even a legislative bargaining position.

The Democratic-Liberals drew their increased strength from the Democrats, the People's Cooperatives and probably to some extent from other smaller groups with conservative leanings, while the Communists drew theirs almost entirely from the left wing Socialists, a development long anticipated. The extent of Communist gains from this source is largely reflected in the reduction of 28 in the Socialist left wing representation from its pre-election strength. Both the Democratic-Liberal and Communist parties garnered strength from the disrepute into which the center parties had fallen as a result of the scandal investigations, which each vigorously exploited.

UNCLASSIFIED

The Democratic-Liberal party campaigned effectively, urging voters to support a strong single party qualified to lead the nation during the period of economic rehabilitation ahead, stressing the weaknesses resulting from past ineffectual coalitions. The party pledged itself to eliminate unnecessary economic controls, to reduce government personnel, to eliminate the sales tax, and to adopt measures which would stimulate the introduction of foreign capital.

The Communist party was benefited by external circumstances peculiarly advantageous to the party. Developments in China, for example, were exploited by the party, which insisted that only a Communist Japan could live profitably in harmony with a Communist China. Chiang Kai Shek's sudden retirement on the eve of the election gave dramatic support to the Communist campaign propaganda. Communists also won support by their promises to ease food collection requirements and eliminate taxes of lower income groups as well as their attacks upon the economic stabilization program of the government. The radical elements in the ranks of labor gave strong support to Communist candidates not because of ideological preference but by way of protest against the ineffectual labor support of the Socialist party and fear of suppressive measures by the Yoshida Government. In some measure the result was probably affected by the influence of the hundreds of thousands of Japanese servicemen intensively trained in Soviet indoctrination centers prior to their repatriation.

In assessing the extent of the conservative victory, it is necessary to take account of the support accorded the slightly more moderate but essentially conservative Democratic party and the smaller conservative groups and individuals with conservative tendencies, all of which add up to over 75 percent of the total number of seats in the House of Representatives. Four successful Independents have already formally announced their intention to join the Democratic Liberal Party.

The Communist gain, under existing extraordinarily favorable conditions, should reflect the high water mark of its political support, unless conditions alter even more in its favor. The danger should not be discounted, however, from the unrealistic and undue overemphasis which will undoubtedly be given the Communist political strength through ill-conceived propaganda efforts to be expected from Moscow and elements of American journalism or individuals either irresponsibly inclined or directly within the orbit of Communist sympathy. Such propaganda, especially any from seemingly reliable and responsible quarters, may be expected to be fully exploited by the local Communist party in the uncensored Japanese press.

GENERAL MacARTHUR'S COMMENT ON THE ELECTION:

The Supreme Commander issued the following statement on 24 January:

'Peoples of the free world everywhere can take satisfaction in this enthusiastic and orderly Japanese election which at a critical moment in Asiatic history has given so clear and decisive a mandate for the conservative philosophy of government.'

N/R: Correspondence from the SGO dated 16 Dec 48 requested an investigation be made concerning complaint of the Rev R. A. Mensendiek as to refusal of the Army hospital at Sendai to furnish medical attention to his son the Rev C W Mensendiek. Information furnished by Hqs IX Corps to the effect that the Rev Mensendiek called at the 172d Sta Hosp, stated that he was a missionary, that he knew he was not entitled to any treatment but that he would appreciate having a doctor examine him and verify the existence of a nasal polyp. He was examined by Capt Floyd C Jarrell, Jr., MC, Chief of the BENT Clinic and was told that the condition of the nasal polyp was not serious and its removal could be performed by a qualified local Japanese doctor. It was further stated that Rev. Mensendiek visited the 172d Sta Hosp recently, the nasal polyp had been removed successfully by a Japanese doctor and physical condition at that time was good as far as the nasal polyp was concerned.

(2-37138) For CSCAD Subject is Coking Coal.

1. In order to utilize more efficiently Japanese coking coals and to determine what U.S. coals may be blended with Japanese coals to make strong metallurgical coke, it is recommended that arrangements be made with the Bureau of Mines to test sample lots of Japanese coals with various U.S. coals. SCAP could send Japanese technicians to aid in these tests if desired. Matter was discussed informally with Dr. James Boyd, Director, Bureau of Mines; Dr. R.L. Brown, Chief; Mr. E. P. Carmen, Assistant Chief of the Coal Branch, Bureau of Mines, all of whom were of the opinion that such tests would be extremely valuable and would aid SCAP in selecting suitable coals for Japanese requirements and would perhaps make it possible to utilize higher volatile and more plentiful U. S. coal.

2. Request comments earliest.

1. This radio to DA recommends that arrangements be made with Bureau of Mines to test blending of Japanese coals with U.S. coals to determine best blends for making metallurgical coke. To aid in proposed test the services of Japanese technicians are offered.

2. This matter was informally discussed by Mr. W. L. Higgins of ESS/IND and Messrs Boyd, Brown and Carmen of the Bureau of Mines when Mr. Higgins was in Washington in November 1948 and the Bureau people were extremely interested in view of the fact that present coal purchases specify coal in great demand in the U.S.

transportation to and from the theatre by air will be essential. Based on last year's experience emphasis will be placed on the investigation of possible avian sources of the disease. Work during 1948 definitely points to certain species of mosquitoes as probable vectors. Information is required as to the specific biology and taxonomy of these species to permit evaluation of effectiveness of possible methods of control, and time of application of control. This group also will probably include one clinician to aid in the evaluation of human cases and is particularly desirable in view of the forecasted loss of military medical personnel. All such individuals will be assigned to the 406th Medical General Laboratory for purposes of administration of scientific activities and correlation with general program. In accordance with desires of Surgeon General the overall investigative and diagnostic program is the responsibility of Lt. Colonel W. D. Tigertt, MC, CO, 406th Medical General Laboratory. For CSGOT. Info JAG. Reference DA letter AGAM-PM 353 (6Dec 48) dated 8 Dec 48, subject, "Training in Administration of Military Justice." This radio in 3 parts.

Part 1. Reference letter implies a new outline of instruction will be furnished by DA for implementation of Phase III, whereas information brought back from Phase I conference indicates course for Phase III will be same as for Phase II.

Part 2. Request information as follows:

- a. Whether hours and scope of Phase III remain same as for Phase II.
- b. Whether instructions on Phase III, in addition to those of reference letter, will be forthcoming and, if so, when.
- c. Whether Phase III may be initiated under outline furnished with reference letter.

Part 3. Analysis of course outline indicates that a four-hour course covering changes in new system of military justice should be ample for senior officers who, by reason of service and courts martial experience, are considered to be adequately qualified in the old system. Therefore, and in consonance with paragraph 13, reference letter, it is recommended that officers exercising

For your information. Following Associated Press despatch received here under date of January 16: "General Holland M. (Howling Mad) Smith says in his war memoirs that General MacArthur failed to publicize the contribution of the United States Marine Corps to the Pacific Campaign.

Portions of his book, "Coral and Brass", coming out tomorrow were published before in magazine form. In the full text, the retired Marine Commander raises new issues including the award of a medal to the late President Roosevelt's son, James.

Although Marines were active in the recapture of the Philippines, Smith says, 'you can search MacArthur's communiques describing the Philippines fighting and you will be unable to find a single reference to the Marines.' In 1941 and 1942, Smith declares, MacArthurs communiques also failed to mention the role of the Marines in the defense of Bataan and Corregidor.

Smith, who led landing forces at Tarawa, Makin, Saipan and Iwo Jima, adds: 'After a period of the MacArthur silent treatment, the Navy Department became somewhat nettled to read of the exploits and presence of virtually every Army and Philippine unit, while seeing nothing of the Marine Regiment on Corregidor.'

PR

'Finally, after tactful representations had fallen on deaf ears, the Navy in Washington began issuing its own communiques in simple justice to the Marines who were silently sharing the perils and privations of Bataan and Corregidor beside much-publicized Army comrades.'

Upon request for comment following statement given to Associated Press by General MacArthur:

"General Smith's statements that Marines were active 'in the recapture of the Philippines' and that I neglected to mention them in my communiques seems incredible. There were no Marine ground Units whatsoever engaged in the recapture of the Philippines. The only ground forces involved were the Sixth and Eighth Armies, neither of which possessed Marine units. His statement with reference to the Marine Regiment in the Bataan-Corregidor Campaign is equally unrealistic. This regiment up until the time I left Corregidor to proceed to Australia was not engaged in the Bataan fighting, having been stationed by me in reserve on Corregidor and having had no opportunity therefore to demonstrate its efficiency in close combat. The only other Marine ground unit under my command during the entire war until the Japanese surrender was the First Marine Division which was temporarily assigned to me in Australia after the Guadalcanal Campaign and which was employed in the New Britian operation making the landing at Gloucester. It was shortly thereafter relieved from my command over my protest. It was a magnificent unit as, indeed, were all other Marine units with which I have had any professional contact, and my reports as to its conduct during its service under me were completely laudatory and fully publicized.

General Smith is personally unknown to me, and was never in my command and therefore not present during any of the operations in the Southwest Pacific Theater, and could have absolutely no personal knowledge of any of the circumstances with reference to the matters to which he is reported to have referred. He has been badly misinformed, to say the least."

1. The problem in the FEC is not one of determination of excesses but rather is one of identification, classification, segregation and inventorying of property including correction and completion of accurate stock records and repair of certain critical items of Class C group to make them serviceable.

2. The major portion of the disposal of surplus property program having been completed and the withdrawal of property from Korea finished, the initiation of a program to accomplish the task outlined in paragraph 1 is the next step and has been directed. Copy of this directive is being forwarded by airmail for your information.

3. Needed here in the way of temporary assistance is personnel of such technical qualifications that they can conduct on the job training of personnel available to FEC but deficient in these qualifications. Such personnel should be placed on TDY with FEC for six months and be available for movement within FEC as needed. Needed further is selection of personnel, both military and civilian, more experienced and better qualified to meet the MOS and position requirements of current and future requisitions as applied particularly to depot personnel for Engineers.

4. Eng, Trans, Med, and Sig teams desired. Trans personnel should be qualified to identify and classify marine spare parts particularly for General Motors, Fairbanks-Morse, Superior, and Buda engines. Sig personnel furnished should be specialists trained in packing and repair. Cml and QM teams not required. Ord reqmt will be met by anticipated visit of Colonels Webb and Campbell from Office, Chief of Ordnance.

5. Personnel offered in WCL 35798 for four services considered sufficient except the Eng should furnish eight civilians to provide for one team in each of four command areas.

6. Offer by DA of assistance in solving this problem is appreciated.

( 2-36612 ) For CSCAD ECON. Subject is foreign business and investment program. Reference ourad C 66770, paragraph 2 of which advised basic policies will be announced later in the form of minimum standards for validation. The following is text of press release being issued today:

"The Supreme Commander today announced the appointment of the Foreign Investment Board to validate, for SCAP, proposals and agreements for the conduct of foreign business and investment activity in Japan. The Board is composed of:

- Major General William F. Marquat, Chief, ESS
- Frayne Baker, Director, Business and Investment, ESS
- Walter K. LeCount, Chief, Finance Division, ESS
- Frank E. Pickelle, Chief, Foreign Trade & Commerce Division, ESS
- William S. Vaughan, Chief, Industry Division, ESS
- Edward C. Welsh, Chief, Antitrust and Cartels Division, ESS
- Clark S. Gregory, Legal Section

"The Supreme Commander for the Allied Powers also announced standards and criteria for validation of acquisition of Japanese properties and rights by non-Japanese during the Occupation. The standards are quoted as follows:

"Purpose: The minimum standards which follow have been established in order to guide and encourage acquisition of and investment in Japanese properties and rights by non-Japanese nationals and foreign controlled firms in such a manner as to:

1. Assist in and promote the rapid rehabilitation of the Japanese economy to the end of ensuring self-support and national independence.
2. Protect the Japanese people and economy in the conservation of their national resources during a period of military occupation.
3. Stimulate the restoration of sound international peacetime economic relationships as between Japan and the rest of the world.

"Standards: Detailed criteria of standards for investment for approval for validation under the provisions of Circular No. 2, SCAP, 1949, are as follows:

1. Application must demonstrate that the investment or acquisition of property is necessary:

a. To carry on present business activities in the case of persons continuously resident in Japan since 2 September 1945 or

b. To resume a specific prewar activity in the case of those with a legitimate restitution claim or

c. To carry on a new activity which will improve Japan's foreign exchange position, or positively aid in Japanese economic rehabilitation or otherwise further a specific expressed SCAP objective.

2. Application must demonstrate that alternative means, such as short term lease or rental, purchase of bonds, expansion of non-Japanese enterprises, acquisition from non-Japanese, etc., are not practicable to achieve the purpose desired.

3. If yen is to be used for investment purposes, the application must show that yen was legally obtained from foreign exchange after the date of Circular No. 2 or that yen funds to be used for such acquisition were acquired by business operations in Japan during the Occupation and were not excessive in view of the goods or services furnished in connection with the acquisition thereof or yen acquired in lieu of restitution.

4. An application for acquisition must show that the property or right will be used in a manner that will add constructively to the Japanese economy.

5. Acquisition will not be validated where there is reasonable ground for belief that it is being acquired on behalf of a foreign government.

6. Acquisition of property interest or right in the following will not be validated:

a. An enterprise, a material amount of the assets of which have been or are likely to be designated for reparations removals, until such removal has been effected.

b. An enterprise which is or is considered by competent authority to be subject to dissolution, liquidation or reorganization under the economic reform program until the final adjudication of such dissolution, liquidation or reorganization.

7. The terms of any contract for acquisition must be fair to the Japanese seller or, in the case of a share of an enterprise or of its profits, production or sales, fair to the Japanese enterprise or its Japanese shareholders.

8. Investment in existing Japanese enterprises may only be made if the investment creates additional assets for the Japanese enterprise in contradistinction to the purchase of stocks or securities from other investors.

UNCLASSIFIED

9. Notwithstanding paragraphs 1-8 above, acquisition of properties or rights by those receiving yen in lieu of restitution of property which was formerly owned by them and was treated as enemy property under Japanese wartime regulations will be validated automatically, providing only:

a. Total yen expended in each case under this exception does not exceed yen received in lieu of restitution.

b. Property or right acquired is similar in nature to formerly owned property.

10. Transactions will not be validated where there are reasonable grounds for suspecting fraud, duress or undue influence."
