DATE: 5 April 46

1. We have received 483 claims from persons employed in a Labor Battalion on the island of Cebu between 8 December 1941 and 10 April 1942.

2. a. LORENZO ACARGEN, foreman for USAFFE Labor Battalion at Naga, Cebu states:

"The nature of this work was to supervise the hauling of food-stuffs from the town of Naga, Cebu to Uling, Balirong and Marmol warehouses. I hired the men under me. I was employed as foreman from 15 March 1942 to 10 April 1942."

b. DAVID M. CANETE, assistant capataz, states:

"The nature of this work was doing miscellaneous work at the Tuburan Landing Field Viz: clearing the runways for friendly planes to land, camouflaging planes, etc. I did not hire the men under my control."

c. SERGIO BONGHANOY, capataz, states:

"The nature of this work was hauling foodstuffs for the use of USAFFE men in Balirong, Naga, Cebu. I hired the men under my control. I was employed as a capataz in the cabo system. I was employed as Capataz from 1 March 1942 to 2 April 1942."

d. JULIAN S. QUIJADA, carpenter, states:

"We made frameworks for trenches. The job commenced on 4 April 1942. The frames were turned over to army installations in various parts of Cebu."

3. In view of the foregoing statements, it is reasonable to assume that the Labor Battalion was established to move supplies primarily and secondarily, to work on any emergency job. A great phase of this work was started in the final days March and early April prior to Japanese invasion.

4. Recommend workers be classed as casually hired for emergency projects.

File No. Subject: Claims of Labor Battalion, Cebu

(2) FR: Legal Officer TO: Director DATE: 10 Jul 46

1. Examination of the affidavits attached to the basic communications and affidavits of other "Capataz" who claim to have been employed by the so called USAFFE Labor Battalion indicate:

- (a) Much of the personnel were hired shortly prior to the invasion of Cebu.
- (b) The work being performed varied; consisting for the most part in unloading ships, transporting and warehousing food and other supplies and the construction of defense installations such as trenches, road blocks, etc.
- (c) A substantial number of the "Capataz" were not employed prior to 15 Mar. and some as late as April 1942.
- (d) All of them ceased work on or about 10 April 1942.
- (e) The "Cabo" system of employment was used by which the "Capataz" hired the men who worked under him.

2. The affidavits of the Capataz further disclose that the work in which they were engaged was scattered at various places, and short duration. Some of the officers mentioned in the affidavits, as being in charge of the work appear to have been in Philippine Army units, indicating that part of the laborers were employed by PA.

3. Mr. Genaro Palomar, who was assistant Paymaster of the Cebu Advanced Quartermaster Depot states that the "USAFFE Labor Battalion" was simply a "coordinating agency" which procured crews of laborers under various capataz and sent them wherever needed by the various projects and installations. He further states that "all the laborers under the 'Labor Battalion' were working on a temporary basis, hired on a per diem wage scale, and worked in general on one short time job after another; and that all of them were hired under the cabo system procured by and working under a designated capataz. He further states that part of the laborers hired through the labor Battalion were paid by Mr. Saturnino Ingayo and others were paid by the units and installations where they worked. He states that the laborers were dispatched to the unloading of ships and the transporting of supplies.

4. In letter dated 1 May 1945, the War Department Dependency Board said:

"Residents of the Philippines who prior to the outbreak of the war or during hostilities were hired for collection, warehousing, guarding or moving supplies, or for analogous purposes without contemplation of continuance as employees beyond the accomplishment of the task which warranted their employment, are not in general, by reason of such employment, regarded as having become civilian employees of the department within the meaning of the Missing Persons Act. Their status is that of native (local) labor casually hired."

In radio 2 April 1945 the AGO Casualty Branch advised:

"In absence of evidence of regular employment for continuing service the emergency nature of the hiring of individuals just prior to the surrender in 1942 negatives any presumption that there is an employee status contemplated by the Missing Persons Act with entitlement to pay after the termination by reason of enemy occupation or other causes of the situation which occasioned the hiring."

5. From the evidence available it does not appear that the laborers and capataz employed under the "cabo" system were employed with the intention of continuance of employment beyond the completion of the work to which they were sent. Furthermore, it is not believed that they were in a strict sense employed by the agency to which they were assigned. They were primarily employed by the Capataz who furnished the laborers. Whether these men were paid by the unit or organization directly or by the Capataz from funds he received for furnishing the laborers is not clear.

6. In view of the foregoing I concur that the laborers and capataz referred to in basic c/n are not employees of the War Department within the meaning of the Missing Persons Act but were ~~of~~ native labor casually hired from day to day on a per diem basis, irrespective of whether they may have worked for a total of more than 30 days.

7. In cases where the claim states that the individual was hired and working for a Philippine Army unit, I recommend that the determination include a statement to the effect that evidence indicates that subject was an employee of the Philippine Army.

2. Mr. CEBU PORTLAND CEMENT CO. (affidavit (1041-1, 704)):

"I do not know of any agreement between the owner and the USAFFE regarding the factory. So far as I know, the factory is a semi-government. From 8 December 1941 we did not sell any cement to any particular person until I left work. We were shipping all cement to fill orders only made by USAFFE."

3. There is some indication that certain employees considered themselves employees of USAFFE because orders from USAFFE were the only ones filled by Cebu Portland. However, there is in my opinion, no justification for the belief that Cebu Portland worked on anything other than a contract basis with USAFFE.

Claims of Quartermaster Supply Depot Employees.

(1) FR: OIC, Civilian Section TO: Director DATE: 8 April 46
RPD

1. We have approximately 610 claims from the island of Cebu by persons claiming employment with the Quartermaster Supply Depot for the dates 8 December 1941 to 10 April 1942.

2. The entire project was not centered in one place but was carried on in several towns throughout the island of Cebu. Although there was some work accomplished during previous months, the vast share of the hauling of supplies took place during March 1942, up until the invasion on 10 April 1942.

3. a. GREGORIO LLINES, Labor Supervisor states in his affidavit:

"The nature of this work was to supervise the hauling of USAFFE Supplies, Materials and War Ammunitions. I hired my men under my control. I was employed as Labor Supervisor from 16 March 1942 to 7 April 1942."

b. LUIS BACUS, capataz, states:

"My job started on 29 March 1942 and ended 7 April 1942 because there were no more supplies."

c. RUSTICO HOLGANZA, Capataz, states:

"I was employed by Lt. Iway of the 62nd Inf. for hauling food supplies from the main road to the hills of Balerong. That the food supplies were stored in the hills so in case of invasion the enemy would not have access to it. The job in Balerong ceased because we had no supplies to handle."

d. CATALINO GIMENEZ, capataz, states:

"I hired men under my control. This job was done under the Cabo system. There were great changes among my men."

4. In view of the above statements and the statement of the Chief Capataz that as a general rule the Cabo system was practiced, and that the QM Supply Depot was an emergency project, hiring men on an emergency status, it is recommended that the employees on this project be considered as intermittent, part time or casually hired and therefore not entitled to benefits under the Missing Persons Act.

(2) FR: Legal Officer TO: Director, RFD DATE: 9 May 46

1. The activity is referred to in the basic check note and affidavits attached as "USAFPE Quartermaster Supply Depot." There is no information to indicate whether this installation was a Philippine Army project or an activity of the United States Army. It is my belief that practically all of the units in the Southern Islands were Philippine Army units. The term USAFPE has been loosely used in this theater to designate PA units and personnel ordered into the armed forces of the United States, although technically it applied to all of the forces in the Far East.

2. The organized military forces of the government of the Philippines were called into service by the President on 26 July 1942, and placed "under the command of a General Officer to be designated by the Secretary of War." Gen. MacArthur was designated as the Commanding General of the new Far East command. Shortly after he received command he issued a statement in which it was said:

"The plan envisions an immediate construction program at strategic localities to house the thousands of reservists involved as well as the intensive development of new air fields for the rapidly expanding air forces. All Philippine elements which come under American control will maintain their national integrity. They will retain their own uniforms, their own scale of pay, their own promotion list, their own rations, and their own code of military law. Their training, however, will be under the immediate direction of the officers of the American Army. On muster into the American services they will be paid and supplied from American sources."

(See pages 16 and 17. The Philippine Army: Its establishment, organization and legal basis, by Philippine Research and Information, USAFPE, dated 26 Jan. 1945.) In a letter signed by Carl H. Seals, Adjutant General, USAFPE, 2 Sept 1941, it was said:

"The United States Government has adopted the policy of using the agency of the Philippine Army in the employment of the manpower of the Philippines. The Philippine Army, retaining its own identity, will serve side by side with the United States under a single command."

3. The separate identity of the Philippine Army was expressly recognized by the Congress of the United States in that separate appropriations have been made for its operation and maintenance.

According to Gen. Fitch these funds were and are being expended by Philippine Army disbursing officers in accordance with Philippine laws and regulations, subject to review by the Commanding General, USAFPE or his successor in command.

4. Civilian employees of the Philippine Army have been considered to be employees of the Philippine Commonwealth and not employees of the United States. (See ltr, Gen. Fitch to CP Hanson, Deputy Commissioner, U. S. Employees Compensation Commission dated 2 Oct 1945.) Section VIII of the War Department plan expressly states that civilian employees of the Commonwealth of the Philippines do not come under the provisions of the Missing Persons Act.

5. In view of the fact that most of the troops and installations in the Southern Islands were Philippine Army, and since it is likely that most of the persons referred to in the basic check note were employed by Philippine Army units, it is my opinion that it should be determined in every case, if possible, whether the unit or installation in which a claimant was employed was a Philippine Army or U. S. Army unit or installation. This would require accumulation of information and data from officers who know the facts and a vast amount of time would be consumed before the information can be gathered and conclusions reached which would enable this division to determine whether each claimant was an employee of the Philippine Army or the U. S. Army. Therefore a practical solution must be reached which will permit the adjudication of claims pending the accumulation of such facts. This I believe is possible.

6. The affidavits attached to basic check note show that most of the laborers were hired under the "cabo" system to haul and store supplies and materials during the period between 16 March and 7 April 1942. These individuals would under such facts be local labor casually hired.

7. I therefore recommend:

a. That all laborers on the project who were hired under the cabo system on a per diem basis be determined not to be War Department Employees for the Missing Persons Act for the following reasons to be stated in the determination:

(1) Evidence available, is insufficient to establish that subject was an employee of the War Department and was not an employee of the Philippine Army.

(2) If subject were employed by the U. S. Army he would be a local laborer casually hired and not within the provisions of the Missing Persons Act.

b. That all persons who were employed less than 30 days be treated the same as the above.

c. That an investigation be made to determine whether this activity was a Philippine Army project or U. S. Army activity and that claims of individuals who allege that they were employed on a monthly basis be suspended pending accumulation of facts and further consideration of whether the project can be classified as temporary or emergency and if so whether this is sufficient to justify a determination that such persons are not within the act.
