Division History:

Division Hq was mobilized on 19 Nov 41 with Lt Col Carter McKenan Cav as acting Comdg Off. On 23 Nov 41, Brig Gen Chynoweth arrived at Iloilo and took command of all forces in Panay and Negros. The mobilization of the 61st Div was then not yet complete as there were only 2 Inf Regts and one FA Regt when the war broke out on 8 Dec 41. The 3rd Inf Regt was hastily mobilized one rifle Bn of which came from Romblon. One Regt of the 61st Inf was sent to Negros as its holding force. On 26 Dec 41 the 62nd Inf and the 61st FA were ordered to Mindanao together with the 61st in Negros. With the reduction of the forces in Panay and Negros Gen Chynoweth ordered the recruitment of volunteers to replace the units that went to Mindanao. The 64th and the 55th Infs were organized in Panay and the 73rd Inf in Negros. On or about 28 Dec 41, the forces remaining in Panay and Negros were ordered to prepare for an indefinite guerrilla resistance. Since then all preparations were centered in hauling supplies to the mountains, until the enemy landings on Panay were made on 15 April 42. Food supplies enough to last for 1 year were stored in different caches in the mountains and the Div was geared for guerrilla operations. First encounter with the enemy was on Diladilla Ridge west of the town of Calinogon central Panay. The 3rd Bn of the 61st Inf ambushed the enemy consisting of one reinforced Regt, on 28 April 42 inflicting heavy casualties on the enemy. None suffered on our side. From then on ambushes were conducted by small detachments of our forces in May until the orders to surrender on 16 May 42 was received by radio from Gen. Sharp. Gen. Christie refused to surrender without section from Gen. McArthur and answered Gen. Sharp to that tenor. However on 22 May 42 an emissary from Gen. MacArthur arrived and explained that the Japs will massacre the Pil-Americans trapped in Corregidor if we do not surrender. Our Div

(61") surrendered on 26 May 42, but only a few officers and men actually surrendered. Before Gen Christis consented to surrender, he called Col Peralta and Lt. Col. Velarde, Lt Col Pedro Senen and Major Chaves and gave the instruction to "Carry on" stressing on the importance of furnishing accurate intelligence to Gen McArthur. For this purpose, the radio set was left in the mountain.

But while December 7 meant "Pearl Harbor" to most of the world, it meant "Clark Field" to the Filipinos and the Americans in the Philippines -- the date to them, halfway around the world and across the international date line, was December 8, 1941. At almost the same moment that the Japs hit Pearl Harbor, they made their attack on Clark Field in Central Luzon, only fifty miles from Manila. There they knocked out the American Far Eastern Air Force with almost the same devastating effect they dealt the U.S. Pacific Fleet 5,000 miles away.

The War Department - Vol I, Triumph in the Philippines, p. 34

The North Luzon Force, dispersed throughout the central and northern Luzon area, was commanded by Major General Wainwright. It included two units of the Regular Army, the 31st Infantry Regiment and the 192d Tank Battalion, a former National Guard Organization, as well as six units of the Philippine Scouts. These were the 11th and the 57th Infantries, (PS); the 26th Cav. (PS) and the 23rd, 24th and 88th F.A. Regiments (PS). General Wainwright also had the following Philippine Army Divisions:

The 11th Reserve Division under Col. William E. Brougher, AUS

* 7-8 Dec 41

The 21st Reserve Division under Brig. Gen. Mateo N. Capinpin, PA
The 31st Reserve Division under Col. Clifford Emswiler, AUS
The 71st Reserve Division under Col. Clyde A. Salloch, AUS
The 91st Reserve Division under Brig. Gen. Luther Stevens, AUS
The South Luzon Force was under the command of Brig. General George Parker. It consisted of one Regular Army unit, the 19th Tank Battalion; one Philippine Scout unit, the 86th Field Artillery; the 1st and the 2nd Philippine Constabulary Regiments, and three Philippine Army Divisions:
The 1st Regular Division under Brig. Gen. Fidal Segundo, PA
The 41st Reserve Division under Brig. Gen. Vicente Lin, PA
The 51st Reserve Division under Col. Albert M. Jones, AUS
The Visayan-Mindanao force was commanded by Col. William F. Sharp, with headquarters in Mindanao, and it contained no Regular Army units. It had one Philippine Scout Regiment, the 43rd Infantry; the 3rd Philippine Constabulary Regiment, and three Philippine Army divisions:

- The 61st Reserve Division, under Col. Bradford G. Chynoweth, US1.
- The 81st Reserve Division, under Col. Guy D. Fort, PA
- The 101st Reserve Division, under Col. Joseph F. Yachon, PA.

There were also elements of other divisions including the 2d Infantry, the 73rd Infantry and the 93rd Infantry.

The Harbor Defense Command, consisting of Corregidor and its satellite islands, was commanded by Brig. Gen. George F. Moore and was composed of two Regular Army Regiments, the 59th and 60th Coast Artillery; two Philippine Scout units, the 91st and the 92nd Coast Artillery Regiments, and the 4th U. S. Marine Regiment, which had just been moved in from Subic Bay.

Command headquarters feared that the single blow at Clark Field had virtually decided the course of the war in the Philippines. The 26th Cavalry, booted out of Fort Stotsenburg, moved into the nearby mountains, prepared to strike at the first enemy beach landing wherever it might come. On December 9, Nichols Field, another key army air base at Manila was bombed almost to destruction. The Japs apparently hoped to catch that part of the FVAF which had gone there for refuge. Group installation destruction, however, was all they accomplished -- but that was complete.

-Vol I, Triumph in the Philippines, pp. 42, 43 & 44

B. J. 10

There were also elements of other divisions including the 21
Industry, the 12th Infantry and the 3rd Infantry.
The 1st Air Force Command, consisting of Headquarters and the detached elements, was commanded by Brig. Gen. George L. Jones and was composed of two regular Army Regiments, the 10th and 20th Cavalry Regiments (both Infantry Regiments) and the 1st and 2nd Cavalry Regiments (both Infantry Regiments), which had just been moved in from Okinawa.
Command Headquarters feared that the attack plan of Clark might and virtually decided the course of the war in the Philippines. The 1st Cavalry, based out of Fort Stotsenburg, proved to be the main contingent, prepared to strike at the first opportunity. The 1st Cavalry, on 10th Cavalry, 20th Cavalry, 10th Cavalry, 20th Cavalry, and 1st Cavalry was based at Fort Stotsenburg. The 1st Cavalry was to attack the main part of the 1st Cavalry and was to be the main element of the 1st Cavalry, 10th Cavalry, 20th Cavalry, and 1st Cavalry. The 1st Cavalry, 10th Cavalry, 20th Cavalry, and 1st Cavalry was based at Fort Stotsenburg.

Nichols Field was bombed again on Dec 11. The ground force troops had been at defense stations for weeks. The 11th and 21st Divisions were on the Lingayen Gulf beaches, with the 11th covering from Dagupan to the north and the 21st on the beaches around Bolinao to Viga, on Dasol Bay. The 31st Division covered the coastal plain from Dasol Bay to Subic Bay. One battalion of the 65th Philippine Constabulary was rushed to Bagac, on Bataan; the 71st Division and the 91st Division were held in Camp O'Donnell and Cabanatuan as USAFFE reserve. The 1st Division, Philippine Army was disposed to delay advance of the enemy force coming towards Manila from Legaspi; the 11st Division was disposed to oppose landings on the Cavite and the Bataan Coast. The 51st Division was set to meet east coast landings at Lamon Bay. The 61st Division went into position in the Visayan-Mindanao area with the 101st Division.

-Vol I, Triumph in the Philippines, pp. h6 & h7.

Stations field was posted again on 20 July. The ground force troops had been at various stations for weeks. The 1st and 2nd Divisions were on the high ground with the 1st covering from the north and the 2nd on the beachhead around the
to the 1st Division covered the coastal plain from the 1st to the 2nd. The details of the 1st Company was posted to the 1st Division and the 2nd Division was held in the 1st and 2nd reserve. The 1st Division, including the 1st of the 1st Division covered the coastal plain from the the 1st Division was disposed to oppose landings on the beach and the 2nd Division was not to move until the of the 1st Division was into position in the 1st Division area with the 1st Division.

-701 I, through in the Philippines, by 1945.

On December 20, the scheduled landing was made by one reinforced Japanese regiment at Davao, on Mindanao. This landing of the Sakaguchi Detachment was virtually unopposed. General Sharp had more than 1500 miles of shore to defend and no air reconnaissance to indicate where the Japs might strike. His 81st Division, just then being organized, was in Cebu. He had started the organization of the 101st Division only a short time before. General Sharp, therefore, had to depend primarily on the 61st Division, Philippine Army, the 3rd Philippine Constabulary Regiment, and two companies of the 43rd Infantry, Philippine Scouts. Supplementing these he had one regiment from each of three divisions -- the 1st, the 71st and the 91st -- of the Philippine Army in Luzon. It had been planned originally that these three regiments would join their divisions in Luzon, but the sudden outbreak of the war prevented this, and so they remained under General Sharp's control.

Once again a Philippine commander was faced with the prospect of opposing enemy artillery with rifles. Within five days after the landing at Davao, another artillery-reinforced company landed on the island of Jolo, on General Sharp's southwestern flank. This little island is almost exactly halfway between North Borneo and Zamboanga on the end of Mindanao, dividing the Sulu from the Celebes Sea.

-Vol I, Triumph in the Philippines, p. 52.

DDP 70A 10

On December 20, the scheduled meeting was held by one of the representatives at Iloilo, on Mindanao. This meeting of the Iloilo and Detachment was virtually unproductive. General Sharp had some 1500 miles of shore to defend and no air reconnaissance to indicate where the Japanese were. His first division, less than being organized, was in Cebu. He had started the organization of the Iloilo Division only a short time before. General Sharp, therefore, had to depend primarily on the Iloilo Division, the Iloilo Philippine Constabulary Regiment, and two companies of the Iloilo Infantry, Philippine Scouts. Supplementing these he had two regiments of two each of three divisions -- the 1st, the 2nd and the 3rd -- of the Philippine Army in Iloilo. It had been planned originally that these three regiments would join their divisions in Iloilo, but the inherent nature of the war prevented this, and so they remained under General Sharp's control.

Once again a Philippine commander was faced with the prospect of opposing enemy airpower with rifles. Within five days after the landing at Iloilo, another airpower-estimated company landed on the island of Jolo, on General Sharp's southwestern flank. This island is almost exactly halfway between North Borneo and Mindanao at the end of Mindanao, dividing the Gulf from the Celebes Sea.
