INSTRUCTIONS.—The postmaster at the initial post office will fill out this form for each dispatch of mail on an overland mail route, unless otherwise instructed. He will require the messenger or conductor to sign on the space provided for that purpose. Before signing, the messenger or conductor will check against the corresponding entries on the waybill the number of pouches or sacks actually delivered to him by the postmaster and see to it that he receives the correct number of mail bags.

This form will be carried by the messenger or conductor outside of the mail and will be delivered by him, with the mail, to the next postmaster on the route. Upon receipt of the mail, the postmaster or sack actually dispatched by him and after securing the signature of the messenger or conductor on the space provided for the purpose, deliver the mail and this form to him.

The postmaster at the terminal post office, immediately upon arrival of the messenger or conductor from his trip, will complete this waybill and see that the totals of pouches and sacks entered in the column headed "DISPATCHED" tally with the totals of pouches and sacks entered in the column headed "RECEIVED." On the last day of the month, the postmaster at the initial post office will forward

IMPORTANT.—In case there is a discrepancy between the totals in the column headed "DISPATCHED" and those in the column headed "RECEIVED" the postmaster at the terminal post office will make the necessary corrections on the erroneous entry or entries on this form after inquiring from the postmasters concerned along the route as to the correct number of pouches or sacks dispatched or received by them under this waybill. Likewise, omissions of entries or signatures on this form should first be completed before the waybill is filed at the initial post office for transmission to Manila at the end of the month.

SEC. 2757, ADMINISTRATIVE CODE.—Any person who shall obstruct or retard the passage of any mail matter, or who shall obstruct any person or conveyance carrying mail matter, or shall arrest or detain upon any process, except for crime, any person engaged in the transportation of mail matter while in the discharge of his duties (shall be punished by a fine of not more than P300 or by imprisonment for not more than six months, or both).

INSTRUCTIONS.—The postmaster at the initial post office will fill out this form for each dispatch of mail on an overland mail route, unless otherwise instructed. He will require the messenger or conductor to sign on the space provided for that purpose. Before signing, the messenger or conductor will check against the corresponding entries on the waybill the number of pouches or sacks actually delivered to him by the postmaster and see to it that he receives the correct number of mail bags.

This form will be carried by the messenger or conductor outside of the mail and will be delivered by him, with the mail, to the next postmaster on the route. Upon receipt of the mail, the postmaster will verify the same with the corresponding entries on this form, signing his name on the proper column and noting any irregularity that may be found. He will, afterwards, enter the number of pouches or sacks actually dispatched by him and after securing the signature of the messenger or conductor on the space provided for the purpose, deliver the mail and this form to him.

The postmaster at the terminal post office, immediately upon arrival of the messenger or conductor from his trip, will complete this waybill and see that the totals of pouches and sacks entered in the column headed "DISPATCHED" tally with the totals of pouches and sacks entered in the column headed "RECEIVED." On the last day of the month, the postmaster at the initial post office will forward all waybills used during the month to the Director of Posts, Manila, with the corresponding vouchers on General Form No. 6 (A).

IMPORTANT.—In case there is a discrepancy between the totals in the column headed "DISPATCHED" and those in the column headed "RECEIVED" the postmaster at the terminal post office will make the necessary corrections on the erroneous entry or entries on this form after inquiring from the postmasters concerned along the route as to the correct number of pouches or sacks dispatched or received by them under this waybill. Likewise, omissions of entries or signatures on this form should first be completed before the waybill is filed at the initial post office for transmission to Manila at the end of the month.

SEC. 2757, ADMINISTRATIVE CODE.—Any person who shall obstruct or retard the passage of mail matter, or who shall obstruct any person or conveyance carrying mail matter, or shall arrest or detain upon any process, except for crime, any person engaged in the transportation of mail matter while in the discharge of his duties (shall be punished by a fine of not more than P300 or by imprisonment for not more than six months, or both).
